Dear Ms. Palmiere and Ms. Gagnon:

Thank you for your letter requesting statistics about the Special Services at Home (SSAH) program. As the Director of the Integration and Program Effectiveness Branch of the Ministry of Children, Community and Social Services, I am pleased to respond.

As per your request, please find attached the data you requested for the 2019/20 and 2020/21 fiscal years. I hope this information is helpful.

The ministry continues to assess ways that families of children with special needs can be supported during the COVID-19 outbreak. Families may wish to contact their service providers and/or their local ministry regional office for updates on what services or supports may be available as the pandemic continues to evolve. More information on how to contact local ministry regional offices can be found at:

Thank you,

Stacey Weber, Director

The total number of youth transitioning from children to adult services, deemed eligible for Developmental Services Ontario services, who received the minimal amount of funding through the Passport program:

Youth with developmental disabilities are encouraged to reach out to their local Developmental Services Ontario (DSO) office at the age of 16 to begin their application for adult Developmental Services, as they are not eligible for SSAH funding upon the age of 18. Once the individual turns 18 and requests Passport, the DSO will make a referral to the local Passport agency. The Passport agency will reach out to the individual to offer an approval for Passport.

Approximately 1,700 and 1,600 children with a developmental disability turned 18 and aged out of the SSAH program in the fiscal years 2019/2020 and 2020/21 respectively. The ministry tracks the number of new people who receive a Passport approval. However, it does not track the number of young adults leaving children's funded services, such as Ontario Autism Program and SSAH, who then enter the adult developmental services system.
